

About the Anglican Institute

The Anglican Institute is a specialised learning community at Ridley College which seeks to train and equip future ordained leaders for the Anglican Church of Australia.

The Anglican Institute has three areas of focus:

1. Missional Leadership Training and Formation – teaching the core competencies required to be effective, as well helping students grow in godly character
2. Research and Publications – providing opportunities for research into Anglican identity and practice, both its history and its contemporary expression and mission
3. Public Lectures and Conferences – assisting churches and leaders be better equipped for future gospel ministry in the world

What do we want our Ridley Ordinands to be like?

- Mission minded – able to create an evangelistic culture in both traditional Anglican contexts as well as in fresh expressions of church and church plants.
- Skilled in teaching the Bible and preaching the gospel
- Effective in leadership and able to build teams and set a creative vision
- Gifted in leading public worship
- Spiritually disciplined – living a life of holiness forged through daily prayer and Bible study
- Strong in interpersonal skills – being self aware and able to develop healthy relationships
- Theologically rigorous – having a mature theological understanding demonstrated in preaching and a commitment to continued reading and study.

How will we achieve this?

- A comprehensive programme of teaching in Bible, Theology, and Practical Ministry units leading to a Master of Divinity, Master of Ministry, Bachelor of Theology, or Bachelor of Ministry.
- A Monday Anglican formation program including participation in Monday chapel services, plenary sessions and enrolment in units such as Anglican Identity; Anglican Prayer Book; Introduction to Reflective Practice, as well as Chapel and a ministry seminar.
- Field placements which include both traditional and missional churches
- Encouraging mentoring opportunities.

How do I become part of the Anglican Institute?

Participation in the Monday Anglican Institute program requires completion of the application form on page 4 & 5, along with the safe ministry clearance declaration on page 6. Those who have been accepted as ordination candidates will participate as full members of Anglican Institute. Those who are considering ordination and others electing to participate in Anglican Institute will become associate members of the Anglican Institute.

Fees are outlined below.

Expectations for Ordination Candidates

It is both a privilege and challenge to become a leader among God's people. Ridley devotes significant resources to training those who have been accepted as candidates for ordination in the Anglican Diocese of Melbourne, as well as for those preparing for ministry in the Australian Defence Force or in the Diocese of Tasmania, for example.

Monday Anglican Formation Program

Our Monday formation program in the Anglican Institute provides opportunity to learn liturgical, preaching and pastoral skills, to grow in our understanding of the national church, as well as to build relationships with a cohort of men and women who will become lifelong ministry peers.

We expect that candidates will be participants in the Monday Anglican formation program over two years.

Ridley Support

Outside of the Monday program, the Dean and the Associate Dean provide support, encouragement and advice as candidates navigate questions of discernment and pursue ministry opportunities as ordained clergy.

Anglican Camp or Retreat Day

Every other year, before second semester, students in the ordination stream attend a short camp or retreat. Families of ordination candidates are also invited to attend. This is a great opportunity for us to get to know the families of candidates, and for them to grow in support of each other. We encourage students to approach their church to ask for support to attend the camp or retreat day, which is subsidised by the College.

Ministry Placements

Ordination candidates are encouraged to undertake a supervised field placement each year of their Anglican formation. The Institute staff will help you put a placement in place. This is to be negotiated with the parish, either every Sunday of the academic year, or fewer hours per week over the calendar year. Those investigating ordination but not yet candidates are encouraged to consider such a placement too. The unit PC078: Introduction to Reflective Practice should be completed alongside a ministry placement.

In addition, students are encouraged to undertake a 40 hour placement in the middle of the year in a setting different from their regular parish placement.

Theological Study

The Anglican Diocese of Melbourne expects its ministers to undertake theological study before their ordination. Normally, this means completing a three or four year (full-time equivalent) theological course. The Anglican tradition values a learned clergy, who provide leadership in both church and the community. In our complex pastoral and cultural settings, the skills and reflection required of an ordained person are more and more demanding. We can be thankful that the Anglican Church of Australia recognises the responsibilities of ministry and the value of training that is both academically rigorous and pastorally applied.

Alongside Ridley course requirements ordination candidates should include the following units:

CH (or PC)	Anglican Identity (6cps) and
PC (or CH)	Anglican Prayer Book (6cps)
PC	Christian Worship
PC	two Reflective Practice units
	(with) Supervised Theological Field Education
TH	Theology units
	(with) The Church and its Ministry
CH	a Reformation unit
PC	a Pastoral Care unit
PC	a Preaching unit
PC	a Leadership and Management unit
PE	a Theological Ethics unit
EM	a Cross-cultural Ministry unit
PE	Christian Apologetics
LA	A Biblical Language

Note: not all units are offered at Ridley every year, some units will have pre-requisites, and some exceptions of the units (above) may be approved in conversation with the Dean of the Anglican Institute.

Other requirements include

PC	Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE)
	Indigenous Theology and Awareness.

Students are encouraged to make an appointment with the Academic Counsellor for help with course planning.
Email studentsupport@ridley.edu.au to arrange an appointment.
